

YELLOW SLAVES.

THE FEARFUL CHINESE TRAP.
FIG IN WOMEN.

Further Startling Details Brought Out in San Francisco Concerning the Abhorrent Customs—The Prices Paid for Girls—Some Solid Proof.

The biggest sensation in San Francisco is the attempt to break up the Chinese system of enslaving their women. Some astounding details are being brought to light. The Examiner says:

"Today California has the unenviable distinction of being the only State in the Union wherein slavery exists, and that, too, in a form compared with which the slavery of the South was a boon. It is not through the efforts of the Chinese themselves that their women have protested so loudly against the so-called barbarous treatment of the peaceful Mongolian will to horrify us of the degradation to which their copper-skinned protégées submit. They sell them. Not all Collector Hager does emphatically exist the existence of a slave ring, in this city, did the public become aware that the Chinese had made further inroads on the Restriction Act, and had established here a slave market, differing from that of India in the secretness of its management, and even then the public were disposed to treat this startling announcement with shyness."

The recent shocking revelations made by the Chinese authorities regarding this nefarious traffic have certainly put the question of doubt that before existed in the minds of the most skeptical.

THE EVIDENCE UNDOUBTED.

On October 13th the Examiner published the first disclosure, headed "The Slave Trade," and since that time one sensation has followed another, till now it is quite natural to expect some real revolution in the social life of the United States.

The words of ferreting out this traffic and procuring legal evidence of the Chinese implicated in it has been a labor of no small moment. Collector Hager directed the efforts of the entire Chinese Bureau for the last two years, in every way, no matter how slight. How well and successfully they have accomplished their task is best answered by the fact that two women and one man are now under indictment by the United States Grand Jury for conspiracy in this business, with every reason to believe they will spend the next few years in the penitentiary.

These indictments are the result of the work on two steamers. On the City of New York, which arrived on November 1st, papers were found indicating the purchase of a woman named Lee Moon Lam She, who was indicted for purchasing thirteen young girls.

On the Beige, which arrived November 17th, papers were found indicating the purchase of a woman named Fan Wing, and a man named Sun Yew.

The letter is dated twentieth day, fifth month, thirteenth year of Kwong Sui (July 9, 1887), and is annexed:

"My Dear Brothers: Sal Ching and Se Sun, we thank you for your kind letter.

On the ninth day of the fifth month (June 28th), and I have landed all right.

Sal Wo and Fan Wing are luckily landed.

In my opinion I think the white men (officers) are very cruel, but they are strict.

If the certificate states to be all right, and the description on the same tallies with the man presenting the same, he is easily landed and no questions are asked.

If any discrepancy appears in the description the officers are very particular in asking questions and making the examination.

A CUNNING CELESTIAL TRAPPED.

Now comes the City of Perking with thirty more girls for the bagnio of Chinatown, and more revelations to shock the community.

The City of Perking arrived on the morning of November 1st, having worked up the river, and stopped on the two new steamers, the officers of the Chinese Bureau, after the usual muster and inspection of the Chinese passengers, isolated the women and placed a guard over them, to prevent any movement, and sent out notices for the masters of the girls. With a perception sharpened by long experience, they at once settled on a rather distinguished-looking Chinaman who spoke English fluently. One of the Chinese agents, who had been sent along with him, had a cigar box containing his best cigars with Chesterfieldian grace, while weighing every sentence the Celestial visitor uttered.

The Chinaman, who had a very suave manner, was led to believe that every girl he selected would be esteemed when the vessel docked, and that he would be landed without the usual delay on making a comparison of the certificates with the register book in the custom-house.

Any suspicion he might have had was allayed by the fact that the officers satisfied themselves that all his baggage was together quietly seized it and again made a comparison of every package and paper in his trunk.

The Chinaman was amazed at this sudden turn of affairs and mentally vowed never again to place trust in a custom officer.

All the papers in his possession were seized, and he was compelled to leave the office of Collector Hager, is able to place before his readers several of the most important which have been translated up to date.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE WOMEN.

Four of the papers contain all the instructions necessary to enable a woman to answer any question likely to be put to her in running the gauntlet of the customs examination and of the Federal courts. They were intended for women on board the Perking. The fifth paper contains instructions as to how they should bear themselves when brought before the Court. It reads as follows:

No, for when you come up in court and are questioned, say when you went to China, who was with you, who went down with you to the steamer. After you answer in court you have to find out from the company on such a day, month and year the steamer left and the name of the company that sent them on the steamer. He is named Ho Kung Sui. On the seventh day of the second month of the seventh year of Kwong Sui the Beige left; on the twenty-third of the third month of the same year of Kwong Sui the Gaelic went to China, also. Sal Wo and Fan Wing, passenger, also Chow Pak Cheong.

On the 17th day of the 8th month of the 7th year of Kwong Sui the Beige returned to San Francisco, and Wong Lan Yick was a passenger.

On the 7th day of the 7th month of the 7th year of Kwong Sui the Beige returned to San Francisco, and Tam Ah Yow was a passenger. All the above statements you will find in the book of Sheung Hing, and the name of Ho Kung Sui.

The paper marked 29 throws some light on the system of the recent bondsmen, that is, the payment of a certain sum paid to one Quan Hoy, a bondman. Paper 21 is an account of the purchase and sale of two girls in 1884, the profit therefore being $350. At that time the price of women in China was much higher than at present, while the haberdasheries were somewhat unknown among the coolie dealers. No. 21 is: Tai Choy and Chung Fung each paid $40 for two girls, making $1080. They were sold for $140. They made $330.

Demand No. 8—Money paid for following girls.

Ah Pol, $300; Ah Fung, $500; Tuck Hoy, $100; Sim Choy, $50; Ah Ho, $450; Fung Choy, $160. Total, $1746. Taken away from this account, $1000; paid for sundry articles, $67. Total, $1746.50. Received $2000 and refunded $124.30.

TAM TAN'S CARGUNCLE.

Paper No. 9 relates to the purchase of a girl for the San Francisco market, for Tam Tan and Sin Youk, these two worthless hying evidently disposed of one girl for $800. Document No. 9—

To Sin Youk and Grandmother: I hope you arrived in China safely and are enjoying good health. I now send you by ship my draft for $600, which I sent through the firm of Chin Tuck Wing & Co., I send this money to the care of grandmother for you. When you receive this money you buy me a young girl. I want a nice-looking one. If she doesn't measure up to you we part the bill. So far we will not pay him. His stop with Ah Chack now. I have heard of Sin Youk disposing of a girl for $800. I think the price will be agreeable.

P. S.—Sin Youk and Tam Tan send their compliments to you, and hope you are all well. Tam Tan's disease of a carbuncle is a little better, attended by a distinguished physician.

SEAL. For Tam Tan and Sin Youk.

Document No. 10 is an answer to the order for the "nice girl." In Lai Guo is spoken of having inspected two girls, over whom there appears to have been difficulty about the price.

Document No. 16—Ah Kew is at Hong Kong. Lai Guo has seen her and her youngest sister. She thinks that her sister suite will be suitable. Lai Guo agrees to all the price, and Lai Guo agrees to all the terms of passage, etc., to San Francisco.

The paper marked exhibit B, published below, was seized in the trunk of a passenger named Pung Wong Cue. It is from his report to his chief, Collector Hager, detailing the methods of the Chinese resort to evading the Restriction Act, and how they establish a slave market.

The letter is dated twentieth day, fifth month, thirteenth year of Kwong Sui (July 9, 1887), and is annexed:

"My Dear Brothers: Sal Ching and Se Sun, we thank you for your kind letter.

On the ninth day of the fifth month (June 28th), and I have landed all right.

G. W. Baker was yesterday brought up before Justice Austin, charged with an assault to murder. Examination was set for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, December 13, 1887, with bail fixed at the sum of $1500, on behalf of which the prisoner was committed.

The trial of Edward L. Baker for embezzlement was yesterday set by Justice Austin to come up on December 14th. Ball was fixed at $1000.

A. K. Morris appeared yesterday morning before Justice Austin on the charge of battery. The case was continued until December 24, 1887, at 10 o'clock a.m.

Vicent F. T. came up this morning before Justice Taney to receive sentence for disturbing the peace.

S. Cusheon and J. Kynes, for disturbing the peace, were yesterday fined $5 each by Justice Taney.

The civil case of Dobinson vs. Childress was yesterday dismissed by Justice Taney.

Tom Lin.

Justice Austin was occupied all yesterday afternoon with the trial of Tom Lin, which at 5:15 o'clock went over till 9 o'clock this morning. Like all Chinese cases, there was the usual amount of hard swearing on both sides. Most of the testimony was given through the medium of an interpreter.

Judge Van Dyke reported for Tom Lin and Assistant District Attorney Dunlap and Henry T. Gage for the prosecution. This is the case growing out of the recent shooting affray over a low game in Nigret alley, wherein a horse was killed.

The civil case of Dobinson vs. Childress, who in endeavoring to take the life of another Celestial, named Chung Hing, killed a horse belonging to a teamster named McBride, on the 13th of November last. The charge against Tom Lin was brought by George H. Hines for assault with a deadly weapon.

The evidence yesterday showed that Tom Lin had fired several shots at Chung Hing, and then followed him to kill him with his empty pistol, which he caught by a nod. A. K. Morris, the Police Officer, and W. H. Auble, who protected him from a furious crowd who threatened to lynch him. When the Chinaman was brought to the station a revolver was found on him, but had not been discharged, and no weapon was shown in evidence. The teamster, McBride, whose horse was killed, was well as two other witnesses, identified Tom Lin as the one who did the shooting.

A Pinti Recital.

Prof. William Pinti's lectures and recitals have become extremely valuable to critical lovers of music in this city. The recital at Bartlett's music rooms last evening was of the invariable excellence and artistic finish characteristic of all, and was keenly enjoyed by the critical audience present. Following was the programme:

Aria from op. 11—(Schumann). Romanza Y Sharp major—(Schumann). Romanza from op. 12—(Schumann). Aufschwung from opus 12—(Schumann). Etudes symphoniques—(Schumann). Choral Variation—(Grand Finale). Polonaise E flat—(Chopin).

A Silly Joke.

The article in the Evening Telegram of the 8th, stating that one of Capt. Lucas' patrolmen had found $90 some time ago, but his conscience troubling him he desired the owner to return the money. I repeat it, is announced by Capt. Lucas he is either a silly attempt at a joke, or the result of pure maliceousness on the part of the person who gave the item to the reporter. Capt. Lucas' patrol is an institution of value to the city, and his men are gentlemanly, reliable and trustworthy officers.

State Fish Commissioners.

The State Board of Fish Commissioners will meet in this city today. Hon. Joseph Routier and Hon. T. H. Sherwood arrive from this morning's train to meet the third commissioner, J. Downey Harvey of Los Angeles. The session of the board will be of no vehement importance—merely the transaction of routine business and the hearing of complaints as to violations of the laws protecting fish. The up-country commissioners expect to return home tomorrow.

Russia Places Several Army Corps on War Footing.

The Formation of the New French Cabinet Almost Completed—The Negev Sullivan Displays the Prince of Wales with an Exhibition of Plastic Art.

By Telegraph to The Times. NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 9.—By the Associated Press. The Mexican Government is making strenuous efforts to effect the capture of Bernal and his outlaws. Almost all the troops of the States of Sonora and Sinaloa, as well as large bodies of citizens, are in the field. The troops surprised one of the bandit's camps, but were forced to retreat. Being reinforced, another attack was made, and several of the bandits were killed, and the rest put to flight. The general loss was two killed and three wounded. Bernal's army is divided into two or three parties. It is thought that the chief is not now with his forces, but hiding, though still directing the movements of his men. The bandit's strength is estimated at most of the men, and the report of a desperate battle is hourly expected. Nearly the whole of Sonora and Sinaloa is up in arms and much excitement prevails.

GOING TO INVESTIGATE.

STILL Hunt Started with a Public Proclamation.

Police officers are somewhat torn up about the gambling business and the charges made by THE TIMES that there is a collusion somewhere in the department. It was not intended to make those charges sweeping, for there are many good men on the force—who are genuinely above suspicion. Those who have been doing crooked work are few in number, and the honest ones on the force do not like to share in the blame of the microscopic minority. That there is crookedness somewhere the best men on the force do not disbelieve. The manner in which so many Chinese tea games and seven or eight white card games have been running—unbeknownst, and are now running—practically unopposed; is the absolute immunity of some games (for instance that of Whipple, in the Rose block, North Main street), and various still more important circumstances which we know about it. He had Clerk Moffet and Sergeants Loomis and Jeffries appointed a committee to investigate the matter. The committee called at THE TIMES office for information, and after giving some statement, with the promise of whatever information is now or may become available. They realize the difficulty of finding specific proof in such a case, especially as the fact that the investigation is to be made has been thus far produced—abundant warning to put any guilty parties on their guard. The committee is composed of energetic and earnest men, however, and they will do their best with an almost impossible job.

THE VITRIOL FIEND.

THIRD DAY OF MRS. ROZELLE'S
SECOND TRIAL

Now She Has a New Story, Supposed to Fit Better—"Didn't Know It Was Vitriol"—An Uninteresting Day In Court.

AMOST OVER.

The Great Freight Blockade at Last Raised.

The trial of Gretelle Rozelle, the vitriol fiend, was resumed before Judge Cheney yesterday morning. The jury visited the Martin cottage, where the deviled crime was committed. R. E. McGregor was put upon the stand, but his testimony was not admitted.

CONSTABLE ED SMITH
testified that he had arrested Mrs. Rozelle the day after the crime, and her husband the day after that. Went to the house to arrest her at about 8 a.m. Took her to jail, and then went back to the room. Witness described the position of the furniture and the vitriol stains.

Her (Mrs. Rozelle's) attorney tried hard to put in evidence to show that Petrie had a bad character, and that the victim, Mrs. Rozelle, ought to have poured vitriol on him. The Court, however, shut out all this matter.

Some other unimportant evidence was taken, and then defendant's counsel put in some affidavits giving her a good character.

The last witness of the day was the defendant.

MRS. GRETTE ROZELLE,
I was living at 19 College street on the 11th of May. In the afternoon of that day between the hours of 1 and 2 I lay down to take a nap. After I woke up I took up the pitcher and went down to get some water. I saw Petrie standing there, standing in front of the glass combing my hair. I heard the door open, and looking around I saw Petrie enter the room. I asked him what he wanted and he said he wanted to get acquainted with me. He came toward me, and as he did so I pushed him over on the bed. I made a noise when he put his hand over my mouth. I then broke away from him, and went to the window, but was unable to do so. I looked around, and saw Petrie was between me and the door. I then looked around and picked up something on the washstand and dashed it at him. He immediately turned and left the room. I was very much excited at the time. Yes, I was standing before the glass powdering my face.

I was dressed in a blue and red wrapper. [Mrs. Rozelle here retorted to Judge O'Malley's question, and returned in a few minutes in a red wrapper, which was exhibited to the jury.] This is the wrapper I had on at the time.

Mr. Crawford: We would like to have the diagram that was introduced as evidence at the previous trial.

The diary, not being forthcoming, Mrs. Rozelle then went to the blackboard and drew a diagram of the room, which she explained to the jury, as well as the positions occupied by herself and Petrie.

Continuing, Mrs. Rozelle said: The vitriol stood on the washing-stand.

Cross-examined: Mr. Rozelle had gone up at the time. He was not about the house. I could not say when he returned. I first saw him in the room when I came back with Petrie at about 12 o'clock when this occurred. I was standing at the glass powdering my face when I saw Petrie standing in the door. I spoke to him first when he was standing in the door. I asked him what he wanted. He came in in the meantime and shut the door. I could not say whether I was standing at the glass during the time I had this colloquy with Petrie. I was standing between the washstand and the bed, and the door, and as he came toward me I threw something on him. I don't know what it was. I think the bottle was uncorked. I then looked around and picked up something on the washstand and dashed it at him. He immediately turned and left the room. I was very much excited at the time. Yes, I was standing before the glass powdering my face.

W. G. SAGE: You were in the room.

The Illinoisans: The Illinois Association had another or rousing weekly reunions last night at Good Templars' Hall. There was a large and jolly crowd present, and the usual delightful time was had. The following program was satisfactorily carried out:

Instrumental music by Prof. Peterson and his band.

Essay by Miss Lawrence, on "The Geyser." Music (instrumental) by Charles Ward, and vocal solo by J. L. H. Hart.

Song.—"The Soldier's Farewell"—by a gentleman quartette.

Hymn solo. "The Old Sexton"—Mr. Snodgrass.

RECESS.

Readings concerning lawyers by Charles W. Pease, and a poem by Mr. Pease, written by Mr. Pirpman.

The following program committee were appointed for the meetings to be held on December 16th and December 17th: Mr. Overman, Mrs. Mitchell and Charles Ward for the next meeting, and Dr. Martin, Mr. Rex and Mrs. Wadham for December 22d.

Art Notes.

J. G. Borghen, a rising young artist, now has a studio on the second floor of the Miller block, Fort street, and is doing some very creditable work.

Sloane & Mudge, of the art store on Second street, have issued a beautiful Southern California portfolio which has five little etchings (by H. R. Blaney of Boston) of five Southern California missions—those of San Gabriel, Santa Barbara, San Diego, San Luis Rey and San Juan Capistrano. It is a decidedly creditable publication throughout.

A. F. Harmer, the talented artist and clever gentleman who accompanied Gen. Crook throughout that famous campaign of 1888 in the Sierra Madres, Mexico, and has done some fine work since then, some of the strongest artistic work ever shown here, has removed his studio to the Hollenbeck block.

Teppin's Toes.

J. W. Teppin, the conductor who, it was reported, had his feet cut off by falling beneath the wheels of a freight train at Colton, arrived in Los Angeles Thursday night. A reporter visited him at his room on Downey avenue yesterday, and found Teppin not so badly hurt as was reported. All he had to do was to rest. The doctor said it would have prevented me from raising the screen. Petrie remained sitting on the bed. I don't remember whether he moved or not. Falling to rest, the screen looked over the cover of the bed between me and the door, and as he came toward me I threw something on him. I don't know what it was. I think the bottle was uncorked. I then looked around and picked up something on the washstand and dashed it at him. He immediately turned and left the room. I was very much excited at the time. Yes, I was standing before the glass powdering my face.

At this point argument arose between counsel and the court as to a new rule regarding cross-examination, and before it was settled the hour of 4 arrived, and an adjournment was had to this morning at 10 o'clock.

A Pleasant Church Social Held Last Evening.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor had their monthly meeting and a very enjoyable entertainment last night at the First Congregational Church. The church was pretty well crowded with the members of the society and their friends, and the strangers who attended were at once taken in charge by some of the officers of the society and immediately made to feel at home. After the opening prayer the reports of the different committees were read, as also was the report of the treasurer. The names of seventeen new applicants for admission were read and accepted. After this the following program was excellently carried out:

Piano duet—Misses Tingley and Ellis.

Guitar solo—Mr. Monsanto.

Recitation—D. Miller.

Recitation—The Rainbow—Miss Hoffman.

Piano solo—Prof. Wile.

The president then announced that the art exhibition was open, and the admittance to see the pictures and other treasures would be the small sum of 10 cents, the receipts to go to the missionary fund of the society. A great many took advantage of the opportunity to help the good cause, and at the same time feed the eyes on the variety of art which had been procured through the untiring efforts of the young ladies. The groups that went in and came out spoke eloquently in praise of the exhibit. The representations were very life-like, and the groupings in some of the scenes were rare gems of art.

AMUSEMENTS.

MILTON AND DOLLIE NOBLES.—These artists will give the Los Angeles public a week's amusement, commencing Monday, December 13th, at the Grand Opera-house.

The Salt Lake Tribune says of them: "The popularity of Milton Nobles increased during his recent visit to the city. His address is 'The Palace'—The Salt Lake Theater was packed in every part to welcome this popular favorite."

Love and Law is beyond doubt Mr. Nobles' greatest effort, and the play in which himself, his talented young wife and splendid company appear to the greatest advantage.

In

the lighter scenes of Love and Law Mr. Nobles has the ease, dash and finish of Charles Wyndham, while in the closing scene, which demands intense realism, he rises to a plane of dramatic power quite beyond the reach of a purely light comedian. It is a striking instance that Mr. Nobles' early training in tragedy and melodrama stands him in good stead."

AMOST OVER.

The Great Freight Blockade at Last Raised.

Last Friday morning, General Agent Williamson Dunn, of the California Central Railways, dispatched Contracting Agent W. W. Crozier out along the line of the Atlantic and Pacific. Mr. Crozier's mission is to work on to Albuquerque for conference with the Atlantic and Pacific officials there, and to do everything in his power to start up the delayed freight that is lying along that road. He has met, thus far, with gratifying success. He has now gone as far east as Cooldige, N. M., the western end of the old first division out of Albuquerque. He is now in the stretch between Petrie and Cooldige, and it will all reach this city very soon. General Agent Dunn and General Freight and Passenger Agent Wilkins, who is in the city, feel very certain that inside of ten days all the delayed freight will reach this city.

The Fort Street Lyceum.

The regular meeting of this society was held last evening in the parlor of the Fort-street M.E. Church. The following was the programme for the evening:

Quotations from Washington Irving and biography of Washington Irving—Mr. Bigford.

Piano solo—Miss Eman.

Vocal solo—G. W. Sage.

Vocal solo—T. F. Shaffner.

Oration—Mr. McFolick.

Recitation—George Goldsworthy.

Recitation—A. W. Weston.

Violin solo—George Dohle.

The biography of Washington Irving was short but well written.

G. W. Sage recited "The Three Lovers," by Wilkes Collins in a very pleasing manner.

Mr. Walken's recitation of "Hamlet's Soliloquy" was exceptionally good.

George Goldsworthy read an essay on "Pleasures of December and June," which was full of fun.

Taken altogether the society seems to be in a very prosperous condition.

The Illinoisans.

The Illinois Association had another or rousing weekly reunions last night at Good Templars' Hall. There was a large and jolly crowd present, and the usual delightful time was had. The following program was satisfactorily carried out:

Vocal solo—G. W. Sage.

Mr. Crawford: We would like to have the diagram that was introduced as evidence at the previous trial.

The diary, not being forthcoming, Mrs. Rozelle then went to the blackboard and drew a diagram of the room, which she explained to the jury, as well as the positions occupied by herself and Petrie.

Continuing, Mrs. Rozelle said: The vitriol stood on the washing-stand.

Cross-examined: Mr. Rozelle had gone up at the time. He was not about the house. I could not say when he returned. I first saw him in the room when I came back with Petrie at about 12 o'clock when this occurred. I was standing at the glass powdering my face when I saw Petrie standing in the door. I spoke to him first when he was standing in the door. I asked him what he wanted. He came in in the meantime and shut the door. I could not say whether I was standing at the glass during the time I had this colloquy with Petrie. I was standing between the washstand and the bed, and the door, and as he came toward me I threw something on him. I don't know what it was. I think the bottle was uncorked. W. G. SAGE: You were in the room.

Instrumental music by Prof. Peterson and his band.

Essay by Miss Lawrence, on "The Geyser." Music (instrumental) by Charles Ward, and vocal solo by J. L. H. Hart.

Song.—"The Soldier's Farewell"—by a gentleman quartette.

Hymn solo. "The Old Sexton"—Mr. Snodgrass.

RECESS.

Readings concerning lawyers by Charles W. Pease, and a poem by Mr. Pease, written by Mr. Pirpman.

The following program committee were appointed for the meetings to be held on December 16th and December 17th: Mr. Overman, Mrs. Mitchell and Charles Ward for the next meeting, and Dr. Martin, Mr. Rex and Mrs. Wadham for December 22d.
